Fees and Charges

Domestic Students – Non Award Voluntary

Tuition fees are payable for all Non Award voluntary course enrolments and are charged by unit of credit (UOC) according to the classification of the course/s. Please refer to the Fees section of myUNSW.

A $50 application processing charge applies to non award voluntary applications. Late application will incur an additional $100 processing charge.

Domestic student – Cross Institutional – Commonwealth Supported Students

If you are enrolled as a Commonwealth Supported Student at your home institution, you may be eligible for a Commonwealth Supported enrolment at UNSW. If applicable, you will be required to submit (with your application) evidence of your Commonwealth Supported Student status at your home institution. For information regarding Commonwealth Support assistance please see the Fees section of myUNSW

Late applications will incur a $100 processing charge.

International Students – Non Award Voluntary or Cross Institutional

International students are liable for tuition fees for all Non Award or Cross Institutional enrolment in courses. This is irrespective of whether or not they are concurrently enrolled in an award program at the University. All students required to hold a student visa or other temporary visa for residence in Australia are deemed to be “International” students for the purpose of determining tuition fees for Non Award enrolments.

Tuition fees are charged by unit of credit (UOC) according to the classification of the course/s. Please refer to the Fees section of myUNSW.

A $100 application processing charge applies to non award voluntary and cross institutional applications. Late applications will incur an additional $100 processing charge.

Summer Term Fees 2018/2019

All courses offered by the UNSW Business School during Summer Term 2018/19 will be available on a tuition fee paying basis only. All students, including those who are Commonwealth Supported, who are Commonwealth Supported, who enrol in a Summer Term course offered by UNSW Business will be charged tuition fees. Australian Citizens and holders of permanent humanitarian visas will have the option to apply to defer payment of their tuition fees for Summer through FEE-HELP. Further information can be found in the Fees section of myUNSW.

Rules and Guidelines

- Non Award enrolment in a course, taken either Voluntarily or Cross Institutionally, may be permitted provided that the student has appropriate educational qualifications, satisfies the University's English language proficiency requirement (EAP) and any pre and /or co requisites the course may have and in each case the program Authority considers that the student will benefit from the enrolment.
- The enrolment of a student on a voluntary or cross-institutional basis must be on the provision that sufficient places are available in the course and that the enrolment doesn't not prevent a place in the course being available to a student in a UNSW award program.
- In general, a non award student will not be permitted to enrol in more than 24 units of credit in any one academic year.
- As a general rule the University prohibits non award enrolment in first year undergraduate courses.
- A student who is under exclusion from any university may not enrol in a course on a non award voluntary basis.
- Applications for non award cross institutional study must be accompanied by documented approval that the UNSW courses will be accepted for credit to the student's award program at their home institution.
- A student who is subsequently admitted to an award program at the University, for which the courses completed as a non award student form a part, may apply for credit for those courses.
